

EUMIND – PHASE IV

SAVE FOOD

SUMMARY

Team Members

- ❖ Deetya Agrawal- Group Leader
- ❖ Nidhi Yadav- Writer
- ❖ Jay Shah- Editor
- ❖ Tanmay Bajaj- Interviewer
- ❖ Tejoshnanda Chilakalapudi - Photographer

Similarities

- ❖ Students of both the schools agreed on the fact that huge amount of food is being wasted all over the globe due to lack of awareness.
- ❖ Students analysed that prevention of food wastage is a permanent solution over a period of time.
- ❖ Both the countries realised about composting the school canteen organic waste and distributing the leftover food to the needy ones.
- ❖ Students from both the countries suggested few Awareness programmes to be organised in schools.

Differences

- ❖ There are not much differences in the thought process of citizens of both the countries.
- ❖ Indians too believes in saving food and at the same time feeding the leftover to the needy ones.
- ❖ There are NGO's volunteering in India to facilitate the leftover food to the poor section of our society.

Group Reflection

- ❖ Students had a wonderful time while interacting with the other group via chats and video conferencing. They understood a lot about DO'S and DON'TS through interviews to save food across different sections of our society.
- ❖ This project provided a great platform for the students to learn about the research methodology.
- ❖ They realised that the youth has got all the technological benefits to spread awareness to save food globally.
- ❖ Students worked on the grass root level, beginning from their own house to track the amount of food which is wasted on daily basis and they are more actively participating to find solutions on their own.

Conclusion

- We attended Video Conference with students of Berlage Lyceum of Netherland on 11th December, 2020. We have learnt a lot from this video conference. It was indeed a great experience.
- Both the countries aimed for taking this initiative seriously and help to create awareness and feed the needy ones by associating with restaurants.
- Their management skills got enhanced while working on this project.
